Our professional approach to maintenance and repair translates into fewer environmental hazards. This means you save money on employee absenteeism and medical benefits. The office can be an incubator for colds and viruses.

The proper and effective maintenance solution can save you hundreds even thousands of dollars in lost wages and productivity.

Our solutions, designed to meet your business needs, address the invisible threats to your operation and make your office a place of work not a place that works against you.

That's the Chicago Service Company difference.
